Dear Subscriber

Welcome to our e-newsletter.

With little over a week to go until Show Day, the marquees are starting to appear on the site and activity levels generally are increasing by the day. There is much work being undertaken to make the Showground inviting to our members, visitors, competitors, exhibitors, caterers and traders.

The Show is always a place to meet up with old friends and to have a bit of a yarn. Many "expatriates" make a point of returning to the Village for this very special event.

Regrettably due to unforeseen circumstances Cornwall Boys Choir has had to withdraw from our concert. They will be replaced by St Stythians Male Voice Choir, to whom we are very grateful for stepping into the breach.

Free buses operate on Show Day, from Truro, Camborne, Redruth and Falmouth. There is also a bus which runs a circular route between the village and the Showground throughout the day. See

<http://www.stithiansshow.org.uk/visiting/getting/free%20buses.html>

Entry tickets for the Show may be purchased in advance, for cash, at Stithians Village Shop.

We are pleased to say that the sections are reporting a very good level of entries. There will certainly be plenty to see at the Show.

James Churchfield of BBC Radio Cornwall will be broadcasting the breakfast show live from the site from 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. Later in the day BBC Spotlight will be broadcasting live in their news programmes directly from the Show.

The Association looks forward to seeing everyone at the Show.
