Dear Subscriber

Welcome to our e-newsletter.

The tentage is continuing to blossom on the site. All the trade stand spaces have been allocated and marked out ready for the traders to arrive on site.

The Cornish Mutual Countryside Area will feature the following crafts and displays:

Blacksmiths led by Kevin Gerry
Poldark Association of Wood Turners
Cornwall Wood Carvers
The Cornwall Guild of Weavers Spinners & Dyers
Cornwall Bee Keepers
Cornwall Wildlife Trust
Westcountry Rivers Trust

There are changes to the car parking arrangements in the green car park, i.e. that nearest the Village. Please see our detailed Getting to the Show page for information.

Another change for this year is that the General Secretary has a new office diagonally opposite the office previously shared with the Hon. Treasurer and next to the Showyard Directors.

For next year we are hoping to introduce a more distinctive e-newsletter style.

We hope that you are looking forward to this very special day out as much as we are.

Some reminders from previous newsletters:

Regrettably due to unforeseen circumstances Cornwall Boys Choir has had to withdraw from our concert. They will be replaced by St Stythians Male Voice Choir, to whom we are very grateful for stepping into the breach.

Free buses operate on Show Day, from Truro, Camborne, Redruth and Falmouth. There is also a bus which runs a circular route between the village and the Showground throughout the day. See Entry tickets for the Show may be purchased in advance, for cash, at Stithians Village Shop.

Please do tell your friends about our newsletters and encourage them to subscribe as well.
